

Fact or fiction?

1. The Indian guide was waiting for his wages. Page 28
2. "You are giving me a fortune!" the man cried in answer. Page 28
3. Passepartout said simply, "Oh, it's not worth talking about!"
Page 29
4. The train continued towards Calcutta, and arrived there the next morning at seven o'clock. Page 29
5. Nobody spoke during the journey, which lasted about twenty minutes. Page 30
6. Impossible! There must be a mistake. Page 30
7. "But at least they must give me back my shoes!" cried
Passepartout in an angry voice. Page 34